About this Project...

▶ Target: £21,090/ €28,110 | Project 339

The Diocese of Niassa is one of the poorest dioceses in the world and the poverty of the people is compounded by their isolation.

In their first three years as USPG Mission Companions, Mark and Helen have made a huge impact on the diocese and on the people of Niassa. Mark van Koevering is the Bishop of Niassa, which covers the vast northern half of Mozambique. Helen, his wife, is a priest in the parish of Lichinga. She is also Mother's Union President, part of the parish council and on the parish training team. They have three children - Jake, 14, Matthew, 12, and Kylie, 9.

Since Mark became bishop, the church has implemented projects to train catechists and leaders, to create jobs and prosperity, to combat HIV/AIDS and to provide clean water. The church has also experienced amazing growth, with many new congregations planted throughout the diocese. Mark said: 'We have been keen to find ways for getting all people involved, and in particular to ensure that women, children and young people all have a voice.'
